

Instructor: Date:

Learner: Regional Branch:

Program: Center:

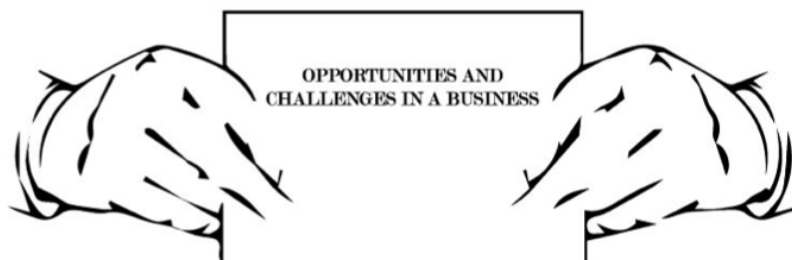

CONTENT

- Let's Start! • Let's Explore! • Let's Practice! • Extension Activity • Target Words • Learning Points

Let's Start!

It's not impossible, with hard work, we'll get there!

Learning Outcome:

Identify key information about people's jobs and places of work in spoken or written contexts.

Build the IT system prototype, starting from the analysis of the functional characteristics of the system regarding user-friendliness, functionality and user experience, supported in software applied following design protocols.

Can Do Statements:

- I can read about new opportunities and challenges to improve a business.
- I can explain the advantages of taking a challenge and having new opportunities in a business.
- I can write about new opportunities and challenges in a business.

Ask your partner:

- How can you be prepared for difficulties in business?
- Why do business owners need to face challenging situations directly? Explain.

Let's Explore!

Do you know how to face opportunities and challenges in business? Let's find out!

Instructions: Read the text below.

I got this article that describes the opportunities and challenges that a business owner found in his career. Let's read it, I need to write a report on this topic and I think this reading might help.

In my experience I found many obstacles and I had to overcome them by being successful, especially with the advent of technology, things like doing an inventory have become easier thanks to dedicated software. One of the biggest difficulties I faced was the decision of which system was the most appropriate for my business. There is a myriad of choices in the market, and you need to try to figure out which is the right one for you in terms of size, convenience, and efficiency for your kind of business. Right after that, I could see that I had to invest in personnel training, which was not cheap and it also took a while.

I decided to take the risk because I didn't know if it would be an investment I could recover. How was I supposed to know?

Fortunately for me, my business has grown greatly. The system I decided to use, allows us to control not only the inventory but also CRM, which has become an essential part of our customer care program. It was something we didn't pay much attention to at first, but it has changed our way of doing business and we have some new challenges now. For example, how to keep customers' loyalty, how to improve their satisfaction and how to maintain innovation to attract new customers.

My advice to all business owners is to take the risk, but an informed and planned one. In business, challenges often bring new opportunities to improve.

Let's Practice!

Try reading this article if you want to know about business!

Instructions: Complete each sentence. Use the words from the box.

Word Bank

decided / didn't know / need to

1. I decided to take the risk because I didn't know if it would be an investment.
2. The system I decided to use allows us to control the inventory.
3. You need to try to figure out which is the right one for you.

Let's Practice!

Don't be afraid of new challenges!

Instructions: Organize the mystery sentence. Read the sentences aloud. Check your pronunciation with your instructor.

1. if / know / the / recover. / an / I / didn't / be / investment / I / would / could / risk / taking

2. didn't / we / something / customer / was / pay / CRM / care / much / part / was / but / program. / it / attention / our / of

3. Challenges / surpass! / impossible / can / it's / to / doesn't / it / difficult / mean / be / but

4. a / Business / brings / weren't / often / the / in / but / challenge / past / improve. / opportunities / easy / new / to

Extension Activity

More Strategies to Improve your Business.

Instructions: Complete the following steps. Fill in the Self-Assessment.

- Gather information about how to explore new markets.
- Make a summary about the best ways to improve a business.
- Write a 350 words argument essay about the benefits of new challenges and opportunities in a business.
- Share your essay with a partner and defend your point of view.

Self-Assessment

Yes No

- I look for additional information about how to explore new markets. ☐ ☐
- I summarize information. ☐ ☐
- I write a coherent text expressing my opinion about a particular topic. ☐ ☐
- I read my essay to a partner and debate my ideas in class. ☐ ☐

Target Words

- successful (adjective): effective, prosperous or thriving
e.g. Well, in my experience I found many obstacles I had to overcome to be successful.
- invest (verb): to devote funds or resources to something e.g. I had to invest in personnel training, which was not cheap and it also took a while.
- advent (noun): arrival, introduction or appearance
e.g. With the advent of technology, things like doing an inventory have become easier thanks to dedicated software.
- fortunately (adverb): luckily, fortuitously or propitiously
e.g. Fortunately for me, my business has grown greatly.
- myriad (adjective): countless, innumerable or very numerous e.g. There are a myriad of choices in the market.
- loyalty (noun): faithfulness, trustworthiness or fidelity
e.g. For example, how to keep customers' loyalty.

Learning Points

Simple Present and Simple Past (Review).

You use the simple present to talk about routines and schedules. The simple past tense is used to talk about finished actions.

These two tenses present similarities except when you use verb to be, which does not need and auxiliary verb. For the rest of the verbs, you use auxiliaries for questions and negative sentences.

Examples:

We didn't have effective customer response, but with the implementation of a proper Information system, we have a great customer response nowadays.

You will find the use of both tenses in the chart below:

	AFFIRMATIVE	NEGATIVE	QUESTION
SIMPLE PRESENT	• I do the inventory. • She does the inventory. • I am at work. • She is at work. • We are at work.	• I don't do the inventory. • She doesn't do the inventory. • I'm not at work. • She isn't at work. • We aren't at work.	• Do you do the inventory? • Does she do the inventory? • Are you at work? • Is she at work? • Are we at work?
SIMPLE PAST	• I did the inventory. • She did the inventory. • I was at work. • She was at work. • We were at work.	• I didn't do the inventory. • She didn't do the inventory. • I wasn't at work. • She wasn't at work. • We weren't at work.	• Did you do the inventory? • Did she do the inventory? • Were you at work? • Was she at work? • Were we at work?

Examples

- I got this article that describes the opportunities and challenges that a business owner found in his career.
- How was I supposed to know?
- We have some new challenges now.

Learning Points

How to Explore New Opportunities.

When thinking about new opportunities, you need to take into account your personal motivations as well as those of your company to make the best of them.

In the personal level, you need to focus on the things that motivate you in order to find a way to expand your horizons. In this aspect, you should think about yourself and the world of work. Knowing about the way it works and adapting to its requirements and characteristics will be an advantage to you. Next, think about the positions that you'd like to occupy, for example, a web or program designer. And finally, think of strategies to help you reach your objectives, like saving money or studying more."

Example

- We have some new challenges now. For example, how to keep customers loyalty, how to improve their satisfaction and how to maintain innovation to attract new customers.

